Subject: First denial then concordance to do an audit - auditor general!

Hi Jane,

The Deputy Auditor General first was not going to do the audit and then I explained further (as sourced in the news) that there was an undercover cop involved in the RBC bombing. Senior Communications said now they are going to do an audit; and something surely will come up not kosher! Perhaps the OPP raid is in response to this audit and other issues perhaps.

Good news anyways that the audit will begin, afterall!!!

Dear Mr. Cohen,

As previously mentioned most of your statements do not fall under the mandate of our Office.

However, regarding the G8/G20 Summits, we will be carrying out a performance audit of the federal spending for the G8 and G20 Summits.

The focus of the audit will be on whether costs reported for the purposes of the G8 and G20 were budgeted, accounted for and expensed as intended.

Work will begin this summer. We will not be commenting any further on the progress of the audit work until our report has been tabled in the House of Commons at which time it will become public.

If you wish to be notified when our reports are released, you can add your name to our E-mail notification list on our website at: <http://www.oag-bvg.gc.ca/notavis/english.aspx>.

The choice of location of the summits and the tactics used by the police were policy decisions made by the government. The legislation that governs our work does not give us the mandate to evaluate the merits of government policies, or to comment on them.

You may wish to raise these issues with your Member of Parliament.

We will forward any information received from the public related to the audit to the team for their information.

Sincerely,

Alex Myers

Dear Mr. Cohen,

On behalf of the Auditor General, I thank you for your letter of 6 July 2010 regarding the RBC and other issues.

Regrettably, it is not within the mandate of the Office of the Auditor General of Canada to resolve or mediate the complaints that individuals or groups of individuals may have against government departments or policies, or municipal authorities.

Sincerely,

John Wiersema, FCA
Deputy Auditor General
